Thomas Manning Post No. 57, G. A. R., of Marcellus, is in mourning over the death of Geo. J. Heckman, the first member it has lost since its organization.

Pet monkeys are an expensive luxury. O. A. Ryder, of Bangor, paid Mrs. Perry Moon $100 damage done to the lady's car and nerves by a mischievous specimen which he keeps around his premises.

Minnie Higgins, aged 17 years, whose parents live near Marcellus, is missing, having wandered away in a fit of mental aberration, as is supposed, on the 23d ult. She wore when she left home a red dress, a black hat trimmed with green plush and a red ribbon bow on the side.

A Paw Paw paper advertises a "donkey" party as a society event soon to occur there. That's right; come out flat-footed. It does seem impossible to get donkeys out of social gatherings, but the advertisement alluded to may have the effect of drawing so many together at one time that sensible people will stay away.—Evening News.

The Detroit Evening News, with a liberality unparalleled in the history of journalism, will send a delegation of forty American workmen, selected from the leading labor organizations of the northwest, to the approaching Paris exposition. From the hour of leaving their homes the delegates will be in charge of a competent and responsible agent of the News, who will look after their comfort and pay all their expenses properly pertaining to the purposes of the expedition. The News of May 4th sets forth in detail the object of this scheme, which our space forbids us to attempt.

The New Railroad Survey.

On the 6th of April Capt. Wm. McLaughlin, with an engineer party sent by the Sturgis, Indiana & Ohio railway company, commenced a survey of a line at South Haven on Lake Michigan, designed to connect with the Hocking valley coal mines, and also, with Toledo at some point in Williams co., Ohio. The country covered by this survey presents a varied surface of fertile plain and prairie, fields of sandy soil, and low river bottom, covered with heavy timber and of exhaustless fertility and capable of complete drainage. It crosses the valleys of Black and Paw Paw rivers and ascends from the latter to the timbered plains and level prairies of St. Joseph county, passing from the lake port of South Haven through the thriving villages of Bangor and Paw Paw, crossing the Mich. Central railway two miles east of Lawton, where it commences the ascent from the Paw Paw valley up to the high level west of Schoolcraft. The engineering problem was to get over the sand ridge east of South Haven and descend into the valley of Black river, and across the summit between the Black and Paw Paw rivers and ascend from the latter to the high level west of Schoolcraft and north of Leesburg without a grade of over 30 feet to the mile. This he accomplished with comparatively light work. It is worth a visit to the hills, fringing the level before mentioned country at this time of year, covered with fruit trees of all kinds, blossomed in varied colors, to take a view over the Paw Paw and Black River valleys bounded on the west by the peach producing hills near South Haven, and peopled by a busy, wide-awake hospitable community, all of them ready to give a lift to the new railroad.—Sturgis Journal.

The two Dakotas—North and South. Public attention is now, more than ever, directed to these two new States of the Union. Climate, soil and opportunities for investment of capital, are unequalled by any other section of the Great West. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Co., which has lines of its own in both South and North Dakota, has just issued an illustrated pamphlet entitled "Plain Facts about Dakota," containing numerous letters from farmers and others which are well worth reading, as they show the results of each writer's personal experience in the North-West, and convey a great deal of valuable and reliable information which will be of benefit for those seeking new homes in South and North Dakota.

Imported by R. B. Kellogg, of Green Bay, Wis., treasurer of the Percheron Association of America, and kept at the head of his extensive and choice Breeding Establishment for the last six years, has just been safely landed here at my farm. Although heavier than was the Duke of Perche, he more closely resembles him than does any horse in Michigan—having the same small head and ear; large, full, prominent eye; high crest; wonderfully good legs and feet; and has the same style, action, nerve and energy so remarkable in the Duke, and is, withal, a great breeder.

Just remember how many buyers have been in this vicinity this spring, picking up all the DUKE STOCK They could get, and paying the highest prices for them that have been paid for any horses, and then come here and see another just such a grand breeder. I have also
